Context: the wider intergovernmental process

The post-2015 development agenda: The Way Forward

- Third Financing for Development Conference in Addis Ababa in July 2015
 - UN Summit in New York in September 2015
- The outcomes from both will contribute to the 21st COP in Paris in December 2015.
- A successful outcome for all the year's Conferences and events related to post-2015 will hinge on the international community's ability to build consensus and common understanding, even on the difficult issues.

The post-2015 Monitoring, Accountability and Review framework

- One overarching MAR framework for the whole post 2015 agenda (covering all aspects of the Sustainable Development Goals and Targets and their means of implementation)
- Important to integrate MAR of Addis Outcome into post-2015 MAR

Main objectives / functions of the MAR framework

- To monitor progress towards the SDGs and other relevant commitments underpinning the post-2015 agenda
 - To foster exchange of best practices and mutual learning
 - To provide political and leadership focus to motivate and incentivize further action and adoption of policies
 - To actively engage all stakeholders in the process and thereby to reinforce ownership and ensure accountability
 - To reinforce the universal character of the post-2015 agenda
- ➔ A strong MAR framework will contribute to the mutual accountability needed for the global partnership for the post-2015 agenda.

Conceptual differences between “Monitoring, Accountability and Review” and “Follow-up and Review”

Monitoring, Accountability and Review

- The framework should be underpinned by transparency, inclusiveness and responsiveness, efficiency and effectiveness
- The framework should be operating at local, regional and international level.
- The framework should involve all stakeholders, including civil society, academia, the private sector, and governments
- The High Level Political Forum will be the primary forum on global level and will have a key oversight role
- Development of core set of results-oriented global indicators should underpin future measurement
- Data collection should make use of the possibilities offered by digital and geospatial data, technologies and in situ monitoring

Multi-layered approach & Links between different levels

National level: reporting on national implementation

Regional level: Peer review and review of shared targets

Global level: progress assessed on the basis of a core set of harmonised global SDG indicators covering the whole agenda, complemented by thematic reports, information from regional reviews and national reports and augmented by reports from UN agencies and civil society.

Follow-up within the EU

- Universal agenda requires action by all
- Implementation of the agenda after the adoption of the outcome document in September 2015
- Mapping of existing relevant action / commitments
- Building on existing framework and policies (e.g. Europe2020)
- Making the MAR framework operational
